WINEMAKER'S NOTES Cinsaut is a lesser known but not forgotten grape from the South of France also planted in Lebanon, Corsica, Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco and a couple more corners of the earth. Cinsaut Facts: There is actually more Cinsaut planted in France than Cabernet Sauvignon; A South African professor crossed Cinsaut and Pinot Noir to make Pinotage. Why? I don't know! This Cinsaut is beautifully perfumed and full of the "Rocks funk". The palette delivers layers of minerality, fruit and spice that keep unfolding in your glass. Its supple texture will keep you coming back for more.
